The Office Environment

Capital One Nottingham

“I would like to thank you and your team of technicians for the excellent work Urban Planters carries out within our buildings. Your continued support is valued greatly and the many different modern styles of planters throughout the buildings continue to give us all a great deal of pleasure.”

Yolanda Lloyd, Dalkia
(facility managers for Capital One)

In a scheme designed alongside the building's architects, Urban Planters frequently made an extra effort to ensure the scheme fulfilled the client's vision during this large and wide-ranging project.

THE BRIEF

- To select plants which would provide striking focal points throughout its vast, modern offices in central Nottingham.
- The company also insisted the specimens used would improve the air quality benefit its staff by filtering the air of toxins, a proven cause of a range of common illnesses.

THE SCHEME

- Urban Planters specifically selected the right Ficus trees growing externally in Italy and Spain and transported them to Holland to acclimatise them for British temperatures.
- When they could find no containers that were suitable for the scheme, Urban Planters designed pots specifically for the client .
- The scheme involves more than 200 plants and includes Ficus trees, branched Beaucarnea, Spatiphyllum and replica palms.
